The 13th Amendment of the United States Constitution states “Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.”

When: Tuesday, February 27th, 6 to 9 pm

Where: UWEC Campus, Davies Center – Third Floor, Woodlawn Theater

Doors open at 5:45 pm, Event begins at 6 pm

Free and open to the public!

Join us for this screening and panel discussion where we will be joined by Dr. Selika Ducksworth - Lawton of the UWEC History Department, and Carl Fields, Vice President of Ex-Incarcerated People Organizing, who spent 15 years incarcerated in a Wisconsin state prison and is now a vocal advocate for criminal justice reform. This film explores the history of race and the criminal justice system in the United States; it argues mass incarceration is an extension of slavery.
